Ajou University in South Korea is now attracting 10 national scholarship students, cementing its reputation in fostering global development and cooperation experts.

The 2-year MA program offers a specialized curriculum combining international development studies and practical ODA experience, supported by full government scholarships, including dormitory fees.

The important thing is to urgently meet the deadline of the application process (April 9th, 2026)!

However, fortunately, since this scholarship is not yet internationally widely known, the earlier you apply, the higher your chances of being accepted.

Therefore:

) Click the internet homepage of the Graduate School of International Studies(GSIS), Ajou University, Suwon City, South Korea - <https://qsis.ajou.ac.kr/qsis/index.do> ) Click the pop-up of 2026 GKS-G ADMISSION.

If you can't find the pop-up, turn off the pop-up blocker of your PC (Allow pop-ups!).

) Choose the Global Network Track instead of the university track!

) Download university information and application forms (Global Network).

) Please complete the application documents and submit them by April 9th, 2026.

You must choose the Department of International Development and Cooperation only!

Please be advised that the final admission decision will be notified only after all required documents have been submitted and the online interview has been completed.

We appreciate your understanding in this matter.

By the way, I am providing you with the details regarding additional GKS scholarship benefits.

- 1) All School Expenses
- 2) All Dormitory Expenses
- 3) A monthly stipend for living expenses
- 4) Round-trip airfare

Please note that during the GKS application process, documents must not be submitted via email.

All application materials must be sent by post (physical mail) to the Ajou University Graduate School of International Studies (GSIS) by April 9th, 2006.

Thank you very much and good luck to all!

Sincerely,

Prof. JEONG Hyung-Wook

Chair of the Department of International Development and Cooperation
